BRANDED IN CHURCH

A Christianized Hebrew Branded as an Immoral Person.

WAS SUSPENDED FROM COMMUNION.

Has Been Seeking For a Long Time to Become a Presbyterian Preacher. His Wife Speaks In His Defense and Causes a Sensation.

New York, June 21.-Herman Warszawiak the Christianized Hebrew who has been seeking admission into the Presbyterian church as a minister and who for a long time had the support of Rev. Dr. John Hall of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterlan church, was yesterday morning publicly denounced before the congregation in that church as an immoral person and guilty of gambling. He was also suspended from the communion of the church.

When the judgment was read to the fashionable congregation, Mrs. Warszawiak, who was present, arose and declared in a loud voice that her husband was innocent. She was put out of the church, while the pastor announced a hymn to quiet the congre-

Defends Her Husband.

Mrs. Warszawiak said: "My husband is innocent. I cannot sit here and allow , him to be harshly spoken of before so many people and not defend him." The ushers, at a signal from Dr. Pritchard of Alexander chapel, who had taken Dr. Hall's place for the day, led Mrs. Warszawiak from the church.

The congregation had begun to sing the hymn announced. Mrs. Warszawiak at first resisted, but was soon prevailed upon to leave.

Notwithstanding the singing of the hymn, the excitement, though suppressed, was intense.

After the incident the services went on as usual, but at the close many remained to talk of the scene, and it was late when the church was closed.

An Interesting Case.

The announcement of the finding in the case of Warszawiak yesterday was the culmination of one of the most interesting church suits of recent years. A young man had done missionary work among the Hebrews, his own people, whom he had left.

Supposedly prospering in his work and taken into the friendship of one of the most influential preachers of this city, he had, by the finding of the church, been declared a bypocrite and gambler.

The session of the Fifth Avenue Pres byterian church had been investigating for a long time the status of Warszawiak. Detectives had been employed to look into the charges, and they had been aided by Anthony Comstock. The specifications on which he was found guilty charged him with playing roulette and gambling in a poolroom and gambling house in Weehawken, N. J., called the Hoffman House. The decision in the case was reached last Thursday night.

Severe Storm In Alabama.

Montgomery, Ala., June 21.-The severest storm known in this section visited Montgomery. The wind registered 54 miles an hour for a f-w minutes, and almost three-quarters of an inch of rain fell, within 20 minutes, which is more than the total rainfall for the month of May. The barometer dropped twotenths, while the temperature dropped 20 degrees in as many minutes. The wind's velocity was greater than ever before registered here. Shade trees all over town were felled and crops in the surrounding country damaged, numerous roofs were blown off and fences laid low.

A FIERCE FIGHT.

Italians' Street Brawl Brings Out the Mi litia In a Massachusetts Town.

South Framingham, Mass., June 21 .-A street brawl by drunken Italian laborers, the attempted arrest of one of them by officers, one of whom was nearly killed, led to the calling out of the local militia company. The Italians came into town on the train from Natick. Four of them had a savage fight on Waverly street. Officers Robert Trace and David Bastien made an attempt to stop the fight by warning the men to go home peaceably. But this they would not do, so the officers attempted to arrest one of the ringlead-

The scrimmage was a short and flerce one, for all of the Italians set upon the officers in the attempt to rescue the arrested man, and Officer Bastien was badly clubbed with a bottle of beer.

The officer sank unconscious from what later proved to be a badly fractured skull. Officer Trace could not hold his prisoner, who was dragged away and out of sight, all the Italians taking to their heels. Officer Trace fired three shots in the direction of the fleeing men, but none took effect. Officer Bastien was taken to the hospital, where his condition was found to be critical.

Shortly after, the police sounded the militia alarm on the bells and steam whistles, but as the rain was pouring in torrents, few of the soldiers turned out. The object was to scour the town for the assallants of Officer Bastlen, and this meant the surrounding of the Italian colony here. The militiamen who responded accompanied the police force and a number of citizens to Dog's Nest, as the colony is known, where a house to house canvass was made.

Three men were arrested, two of whom Officer Trace identified as the men in the fight. They were taken to the police station and will be held to await the result of Officer Bastien's in-

The hospital physicians reported Mr. Bastien's condition as hopeless. He was badly used up in the fight. The incipient riot has created considerable excitement in the town against the Italians, who are generally described as a troublesome lot.

St. Louis Poolrooms.

St. Louis, June 21.-The St. Louis poolrooms, which for the last six months have enjoyed entire immunity from police interference, will, it is expected, be closed by the operation of the Missouri Breeders' law. All other poolrooms will close.

The Consideration of the Tariff Bill Expected Soon.

Party Differences Cause More Perplexity at Present Than the Bill Itself. The House Programme the Usual Routine.

Washington, June 21.-The Republican senators in charge of the tariff bill begin to feel that the end is almost in sight. They do not hope to conclude the consideration of the bill by the close of the present week, but they expect by that time to be able to say when they can complete the work.

As a matter of fact, the difficulty of adjusting differences in their own party is causing the managers more perplexity at present than is the open opposition to the bill in the senate. It has been found almost impossible to harmonize the contending forces among Republicans on the tobacco and wool schedules. The differences on tobacco have been compromised, though not to the satisfaction of all concerned, and if there should be another caucus before the tobacco schedule is taken up in the senate the question is liable to be reopened there.

The wool schedule now confronts the senate, and it is Senator Allison's purpose to press the schedule forward to a Hence, it will be impossible to postpone for a very much longer time the settlement of the differences on this question. It is expected that if the committee is not able to announce a determination at once the matter will be referred to an early caucus, or a caucus may be called if the committee fixes a rate that is not satisfactory to the

There is little doubt that an advance will be conceded by the committee, but the question of interest is whether the increase will be all that the wool men demand.

The wool schedule will, of course, give rise to an animated debate, but the Democratic senators say there is no disposition on their part to needlessly prolong it. There are also numerous articles on the free list and in the "sundry" schedule which will arouse differences of opinion, and if the Republicans do not withdraw the internal revenue features of the bill there will be a sharp clash over this.

They are practically decided, however, to retreat from these provisions. It is also practically determined that the house provision in regard to Hawaiian sugar will be continued, pending the disposition of the Hawaiian annexation treaty. For the rest, the question of reciprocity and the problem presented by ists in connection with the tariff are still undetermined by the Republicans themselves, but there is no doubt that there will be more or less general debate upon any proposition agreed to when presented in the senate.

The programme in the house will be the same as during past weeks. There will be two sessions, one on Monday and another on Thursday. It is probable that the committee on rules will bring in a special order on Monday for the consideration of the bill appropriating money to repair the drydock at the Brooklyn navy yard, and the bill will no doubt be passed.

Contagious Diseases of Animals.

Washington, June 21 .- In accordance with the law for the suppression of contagious diseases among domestic animals, Secretary Wilson of the agricultural department has issued to managers and agents of railroads and transportation companies, stockmen and others a circular notifying them that the contagious disease known as sheep scab, or scables of sheep, exists among sheep in the United States and that it is a violation of the law to receive for transportation or transport any stock affected with that disease from one state or territory to another.

It is also a violation of the law to deliver for such transportation to any railroad company, or master or owner of any boat or vessel, any sheep, knowing them to be affected with the contagious disease referred to, and it is also unlawful to drive on foot or transport in private conveyance from one state or territory to another any sheep so affected. Transportation companies and individuals engaged in the business of shipping and transporting sheep are requested to co-operate with the department in the enforcement of the laws for preventing the spread of the disease, and orders are given that cars, boats or vehicles which have been used in the transportation of animals affected shall be immediately cleansed and disin-

THE END IS IN SIGHT THE JUBILEE BEGUN.

Queen Victoria Attends the Ceremonies at St. George's Chapel.

THE WOOL SCHEDULE TO BE PUSHED | THE SCENE WAS MOST IMPRESSIVE.

Members of the Royal Family, All of Whom Were Present-Her Majesty Very Much Affected.

London, June 21.-Queen Victoria began the celebration of her jubilee yesterday, as was befitting her entire career, before the altar of her faith, while throughout London, the United Kingdom and the empire, in every cathedral, church or chapel of the Established Church of England were held services similar to those at St. George's chapel, Windsor, where her majesty paid her devotions and offered solemn thanksgiving.

The announcement that the service at St. George's chapel would be private and for the members of the royal family prevented the gathering of a large crowd. The scene was most impressive and the service very simple. Her majesty sat in the chair of state immediately in front of the communion rail and just beside the brass plate the inscription of which designates the spot which was the temporary place of interment of the prince consort.

The ladies and gentlemen who are the grand officers of the queen's household entered first, followed by the military Knights of Windsor in the full costume of cocked hats and scarlet coats. The Duke of Devonshire and Lord Rosebery occupied their stalls as Knights of the Garter.

The Dean of Windsor, wearing the insignia of chaplain of the Order of the Garter, officiated, assisted by the lord bishop of Barry and several canons.

The Queen's Arrival.

Punctually at 11 o'clock, amid the soft strains of an organ voluntary, the queen arrived from the cloisters at the entrance. Assisted by her Indian attendant, she walked slowly to the chair of state, the congregation standing. She was dressed all in black except for a white tuft in her bonnet. The Empress Frederick of Germany, attired in deep black, took the seat at the right of the queen, while the Duke of Connaught, wearing his Windsor uniform, seated himself at her left.

The others grouped themselves closely behind and looked very like a simple family of worshipers. Among them were the Duchess of Connaught, Prince Henry of Prussia and the Princess Henry. Prince Christian and Princess Christian, with their children. Princess Henry of Battenberg, the Grand Duke Sergius and the grand duchess.

a short exhortation from I. Tim., and the Suffrages after the Creed contained these sentences:

Priest-O Lord save the queen. Answer-Who putteth her trust in

Priest-Send her help from thy holy

Answer-And evermore mightily defend her. Priest-Let her enemies have no advantage over her.

Answer-Let not the wicked approach to hurt her. After the first collect a special collect was read, and instead of the usual prayer for the queen and royal family two special prayers were substituted. A special prayer for unity was said, and there were special psalms and gospels used instead of those for the day, the gospel being the sixteenth verse of the twenty-second chapter of St. Matthew, "Render, therefore, unto Caesar

There was no sermon, but a special hymn written by the Right Rev. William Walsham, lord bishop of Wakefield, with music by Sir Arthur Sullivan, was sung at her majesty's rethe things which are Caesar's.'

Before the benediction a special thanksgiving was offered.

Music by St. George's Choir. The choir of St. George's chapel rendered the musical portion of the service. Sir Walter Parratt presiding at the organ. The service lasted 40 minutes, the queen remaining seated throughout and following closely the special prayers

At the end there was a pause. The queen, with bowed head, continued in silent prayer. Then followed a touching scene, which will ever linger in the memory of those who witnessed it. Summoning the Empress Frederick, who bowed low at her side, the queen kissed her on both cheeks. The Duke of Connaught and the others of the family followed, receiving a similar token of affection on bended knee. In many cases the recipient was kissed several times.

The queen was profoundly moved, and the tears rolled down her cheeks. At last, and evidently with great reluctance, she beckoned her Indian attendant, and, leaning on his arm, passed slowly out of the chapel, the entire congregation standing, the soft light falling through the multicolored windows and the exquisite strains of the organ rising and swelling beneath the gothic bannered roof. It was a scene never to be forgotten and thrilled all present with strong emotion.

DEBS' FOLLÓWERS.

They Adopt a Constitution, Which Is Against All Monopolies.

Chleago, June 21.-Eugene V. Debs declared in an interview that the free silver wave had receded to such an extent that it was a dead issue.

Mr. Debs will encourage socialism as the issue in 1900. The constitution, which has been adopted by an overwhelming majority, favors the public ownership of all industries controlled by monopolies, trusts and combines, such as railroads, telegraphs, telephones, transportation, waterworks, gas and electric light plants. It also favors public proprietary control of all mines, oil and gas wells. It favors reduction of the hours of labor in proportion to the progress of production. Relief for the unemployed is suggested in the undertaking of public works and improve-

Woolen Mills Burned at Providence.

Providence, June 21 .- Fire broke out among a number of bales of raw wool stored in the house of the Manton mills, at Manton village, at the city line. The flames quickly spread through the threestory wooden building, which was soon gutted. The automatic sprinklers in the finishing room of the main mill went off, and the damage to the goods in this department from water will equal the loss of the wool. The entire damage is estimated at about $60,000 by the owner, H. A. Kimball, The mill is employed on woolens and worsteds and has about 500 hands. The loss is fully covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Denver, June 21.-Judge Allen has decided to appoint a receiver for the Bassick mine, but the receiver has not yet been named. Under a recent decision of the federal courts E. C. Bassick is in possession of the property. The present action was brought by minority stockholders in the Bassick company, asking that the court determine the rights of the company as against Bassick and Dennis Ryan. It is alleged that these two entered into a conspiracy to defraud the company out of the property. The Bassick mine is located in Custer county. It is valued at $5,000,000.

THE BIG BOAT RACES

All of the Crews Now at Poughkeepsie Ready For the Event.

HOW THE CONTESTANTS APPEAR.

Some Information Regarding the Differe ent Tactics on Which to Base the Chances of Winning-Programme

of the Several Events.

Poughkeepsle, N. Y., June 21.-Yale is here. The blue floats over the boathouse and the training quarters, and the boating colony has a score more added to its already large number. The arrival of the brawny giants will now make it possible for the collegiate experts who have picked winners and condemned methods to change their opinions. That the Yale men will be in the race is apparent. Never was seen such a lot of stalwart looking men. The eight as picked to row on varsity day weigh just 122 pounds more than the Cornell men and about 40 pounds more than the Harvard boys. they row over the course for the first time, they will be watched by hundreds of anxious eyes. So far as can be seen, they form equally as formidable a crew as Yale has ever had. The greatest excitement of the day next to the arrival of Yale seemed to be the announcement that John Harvard had been painted during the day. Investigation showed that there had not been a violation of the sacred statue at Harvard, but that the training launch John Harvard had been treated to a new coat of paint of dazzling white. The Crews.

For the benefit and information of those desiring to know the points of the three crews to row in the big varsity race of Friday, June 25, these statistics

There is a difference of 141/2 pounds in the average weights of the crews. Yale is the heaviest and Cornell the lightest, with Harvard as a happy medium. If weight counts for endurance, then Yale has the advantage; but, on the contrary. Cornell, with the lightest crew on the river, won last year's race easily. Cornell is lighter than ever this year, the lately added youngsters, who succeeded some heavy men, being very light. For ideality Harvard's weight is the best. The average weights of the crews, exclusive of the coxswains, are as follows: Cornell, 159 pounds;

Harvard, 169; Yale, 1731/2. Harvard suffered last year from lack of endurance, while the light Cornell crew finished in splendid shape, although judged by the college "experts," some of whom are doing similar newspaper work this year, as being too light to possibly withstand the strain of four miles. It is generally conceded that Yale crews always finish strong and that endurance is their best point, Harvard has trained this year to overcome last year's defeat, and it is not only possible, but probable that the hard racing will be done in the last.

mile. Both Harvard and Cornell have studied much on the starts, and both Incline to a quick start, but an equally quick slow down to a normal stroke. Yale catches water quickly, but swings down to an easy gait at once. If Harvard and Cornell get fighting in the first mile or two and keep up a fast stroke. Yale, with her easy stroke, will win the race; or, if Harvard and Yale put up a terrific contest in the first mile, Cornell will repeat her performance of last year.

Harvard pulls the longest stroke and has the quickest recovery. Yale comes next and uses more body on the oar, but ships it more quickly for recovery. Cornell is about the same as last year, not quite so long as the present Harvard stroke, but snappier.

Cornell will use a new Watters paper boat, but both Harvard and Yale will use cedar boats bullt in this country. The Cornell and Yale crews use the American swivel oarlock, but the Harvard crews use the English thole pin and claim that they get much more

Other Points to Judge From.

These few facts, not theories, are things that will undoubtedly be factors in the race, tide and water not considered, and people of speculative minds can determine for themselves the winner with equally as much accuracy as the experts who are writing opinions from here. But after you have speculated, before a final decision is given, tide and water. Yale luck, Harvardmisfortune and Cornell boating success should be marked down as unknown quantities, liable to cause disaster to any decisive opinion.

The programme for the entire series of races is briefly as follows: Wednesday, June 23 .- Two mile race for freshmen of Yale, Harvard and

Cornell, to be rowed up stream between 4 and 5 o'clock p. m. Friday, June 25 .- Four mile race for varsity crews of Yale, Harvard, and Cornell, to be rowed down stream at 3:30 p. m. sharp. Wednesday, June 30.-Two mile race,

GROWS FROM A TOMB Mysterious Tree in a Dark and Ancient English Church.

The little parish of Kempsey is one of the most picturesque in England. It is situated on the banks of the Severn. about four miles from Worcester. Its proudest feature is the little church which has been standing nobody knows how long, but which was carefully restored in 1865. Its second lease of life, therefore, dates back earlier than the birth of many a venerated sanctuary. In this church there is a monument built of solid stone and curiously carved, erected to the memory of Sir Edmund Wylde, who died in 1620, at the age of 32. The recumbent figure of the knight lies under a stone canopy.

TREE IN A TOMB. (This Chestnut Thrives in a Queer Place.)

supported by two small fluted pillars. His hands are folded on his breast, with his sword between them, and his helmet is by his side. The inscription above him tells that "he was solemnly here interred with great lamentation.' also that he was "thought worthy the honor to be high sheriff of this county."

Many years ago the village school children used to sit on benches in the chancel and play with horse chestnuts. One day a nut fell in a crevice behind the tomb and chanced to strike soil fertile enough to cause it to sprout. Year by year it has grown, until now it is a full-grown tree, casting its shade over the form of the stone knight.

The mystery of its living and thriving have never been solved, but in all the darkness and mustiness of the ancient church the tree grows, and yearly buds, leaves and blossoms with the unfailing instinct which abundant soil, frequent rains and generous sunshine are alone supposed to fester.

The inhabitants of Kempsey proudly cherish their historic tree, and at the time of the church's restoration the little chestnut tree was carefully Loarded up to prevent it from injury. The illustration is taken from a painting by Col. J. A. Temple, Bengal start corps.

POMPOUS MR. CURZON.

Leiter's English Son-in-Law Is Not Popular at Home.

Mr. George Curron is attracting considerable interest in England since h succeeded in winning his way into parliament by the aid of money of the former Mary Leiter, whom he married, on his own confession, with the understanding that a goodly sum of her millionaire father's fortune should be settled upon him in exchange for his mighty name.

Mr. Curzon is the laughing stock of his associates in the governmental work, because of his bumptiousness and because of the too-evident fact that he reached his present position only through his American dollars. The English papers openly charge him with "what-i-don't-know-is-not-worthknowing" air, a sentiment which he boasted even in his Oxford days. He is aristocratic, handsome and clever and he is fully aware of all these qualities. In matter of dress he is exceedingly careful and his blonde hair is parted in the exact middle. Herr to a peerage, married to one of America's most beautiful and wealthy women. under secretary for foreign affairs in the house of commons and spoken of by friends and foes alike as a possible premier, it would seem that there would be few who would openly dare to mention aloud his peculiarities, but his overwhelming consciousness of all these favorable points is too evident for his critics to refrain from an occasional fling at his high and mighty manner.

NOT HAPPILY MARRIED.

Princess Maud and Her Relations Cannot Get Along.

The English Girl Has Proved Berself Too Lively and Thereby incurred the ill Will of Her Wealthy Mother-in-Law.

Both the prince of Wales and the princess are much distressed just at present about their favorite daughter. Princess Maud, known among her relatives by the nickname of "Harry," who was married last year to Prince Charles of Denmark. It seems that the union has shared the fate of so many matrimonial alliances of royalty, Laving turned out most unhappily. To be rivith, the change from the pleasant, active life at house to Copenhagen, which is the dreariest capital in Chinitendom, has been more than the princess coulstand. Moreover, her husband's read tives never have been congernal to her. and, inasmuch as her husband has been I away at sea for nearly three months past, she has been simply bored to death and so homesick that a short time ago she had made up her mind that she could not stand it any longer, and announced her intention of returning to England, no matter whether she obtained the consent of her husband's family thereto or not.

The crown princess of Denmark, says the Chicago Record, assumed a very unfriendly attitude toward Princess Maud, and, inasmuch as it is she who holds the purse stringsthe allowance to the young couple being made from her enormous fortune, one of the largest in Europe-she announced that if Princess Maud went to England she would cease to provide

The old king of Denmark, without going so far as the crown princess, expressed his disapproval of the conduct of Princess Maud, and, recalling to mind the trouble to which he had been put in order to get Maud to come to Denmark at all after her marriage, he declined to give his sanction to her visit to England.

Matters had reached a critical stage when the princess of Wales suddenly made her appearance at Copenhagen, bringing along with her her two daughters, the duchess of Fife and Princess Victoria for the purpose of soothing and comforting their sister. It was said at the time that the sudden departure of the princess of Wales from England was due to the danger in which her brother, the king of Greece. was involved at Athens. But that was not the case. It was on account of Princess Maud that she hurried off to Copea bagen.

With great difficulty the princess of Wales now has obtained permission from her father, the king, that Maud should spend three months of the present season in London, the jubilee festivities being taken as a pretext. Yet so thoroughly does the crown princess of Denmark disapprove of this concession that at the last moment she has announced that neither she nor her daughters will come to London for the festival in question, and that she will remain in Germany instead, leaving the crown prince to go alone.

It may be remembered that from the very outset the crown princess did not like the idea of a union between her son Charles and Princess Maud of Wales. She had privately made all the arrangements for his marriage to the young queen of Holland, and when Prince Charles, with the usual contrariness of lovers, fell in love with the wrong girl—that is to say, with his first cousin. Mand—the crown princess was o disappointed that at first she declined to do anything financially for him.

It is difficult to conceive a greater contrast than that which exists between the crown princess and her English daughter-in-law. The latter is the quintessence of chic and refinement. sparkling with wit, exceedingly elegant and neat and trim in her diminutive person. The crown princess, on the contrary, is the tallest royal lady in Europe, large-boned and ungainly in the extreme and with the walk of a grenadier and the laugh of a horse, and an execrably loud taste in everything that concerns dress. She is renowned all over Europe for the addity of her utterances and for her faux pas in speech. For a time she was under restraint as a morpho-maniae. It is utterly impossible to conceive how there could be a single point in common between her daughter-in-law and berself.

HUMAN ROOKERIES. Monks Perched on Rocks in Thezasty

Where the Turks Cannot Get Them. The mere fact that the Turks overrun Thessaly on the Grecian frontier does not by any means imply that they can easily extirpate the Christians in that once fertile vale. Some of the Christian strongholds in this territory, which for generations has been in dispute between the adherents of the cross and crescent, are perched high on in-accessibe rócks. The monastery of All Saints, popularly known as Hagios Barlaam, is on the top of a lofty monolith, rising several hundred feet sheer from the ground. The monastery buildings grown the top of this rock clear to the outer edges, and it is only to be reached when the monks deign to let down a ladder or a net, in which the visitor is Sandringham and at Marlborougn sowiy bauled by a cumbersome windes to the lofty summit.

This monastery in Thessaly was built in the 15th century. The rope by which it is reaced is 340 feet in length.

This rope is lowered by the monks when they consent to receive the visit of some stranger who has been well recommended to them. At the end of the rope is a net and in this the visitor with his baggage takes his place.

Then the monks far above turn an ancient windlass and the visitor in his net slowly ascends. If for any reason the monks do not like the look of the visitor, or if they change their minds while the rope is being hauled up, the burden in the net can be let down again -- if necessary with a "run."

By uncoupling one of the wheels of the windlass the visitor can be dumped on the ground in an unceremonious manner with several lengths of the stout rope on top of him. This form of treatment, it is said, was accorded by the monks to suspicious visitors in former times. Spies attempting to ascend the rock by means of the rope ladder have had the ladder cut above them when a few feet from the top, fall ing on the rocks below and being dashed to death.-N. Y. Journal.

HOW NOT TO CARRY THEM. Ways in Which Canes and Umbrellas

Become Sources of Danger. "Any man who feels himself impelled to carry a cane or an umbrella not in actual use in any manner except in an approximately vertical position by his side," said Mr. Glimby, "should at once hire a hall and go there and lock himself in alone, where he will not endanger the lives of his fellow-mortals and where the damage done by him will be confined to the breaking of such windows as he may stick the end of his umbrella through in his sudden turnings as he pursues his walk.

"And yet, reprehensible as is the practice of carrying a cane or umbrella through the streets in any other than a vertical position, there are in this as in other crimes degrees of reprehensibility. The least dangerous of the wrong ways of carrying a cane is over the shoulder, with the point up, at the angle of 45 degrees. The man carrying a cane in that manner turning suddenly in a crowd is not likely to do much damage beyond knocking off a few

"A more objectionable way of carrying a cane is horizontally under the arm, with the ends sticking out front and back. It is possible for a man carrying a cane in this manner to jab two people at once, rouse a considerable amount of ill feeling and perhaps hurt somebody,

"The man who carries through the streets a cane or an umbrella run through the straps of a valise with the ends sticking out is a dangerous being. for people cannot see this umbrella till they are very near to it. They might not know of its presence at all unless they should run over it or the carrier should turn when they were close upon

"But the most dangerous of all the careless or thoughtless cane or umbrella carriers is the man who carries a cane or an umbrella horizontally under his arm while going up a stairway, as, for example, up the stairs leading to an elevated station. The point of an umbrella so carried is about on a level with the eyes of anybody following close, and it is a source of great danger. There is but one thing for the follower to do if, happily, he shall discover the umbrella in time, and that is to give the man carrying it lots of room."-N. Y.

Artificial Petroleum.

Among the achievements of science is the production of petroleum from linseed oil by distillation under pressure. Two theories have been held as to the origin of petroleum. One is that it is a vegetable, the other of animal origin. It is not unlikely that it is a combination of both. Animal and vegetable oils filter through the ground, and might, by changes in the chemical laboratory of nature, produce this substance. At ull events, the fact is significant and interesting, especially as several petroleum hydrocarbons have resulted from the experiments as noted.—N. Y.

JERSEY'S BLIND HEIRESS Nost interesting Woman is Miss Alice A. Holmes.

One of the most interesting women imaginable is Miss Alice A. Holmes, the beiress. Miss Holmes has just come into $500,000 or more, but there is no danger of her marrying any young and ardent lover, for she is now in her seventy-fifth year, says Pennsylvania Grit. Then the old woman is blind and has been blind ever since she was 11. Recently her brother died in California and left her a big fortune, which she purposes to spend in the amelioration of the sufferings of her fellow-afflicted kind. Miss Holmes lives in a quiet and pretty street in Jersey City, and for 25 years she has struggled through a decent powerty. Her brother in California has always looked after her wants. but Miss Holmes' pride would not altow him to support her, and she has earned her own living well through the years of her solitude. Early in life she conceived a love for music, and although deprived of her sight she managed to master that difficult art. Once that she became proficient she desired to teach. And, strange to say, she was quite as proficient as a teacher as she was as a performer. She found she could succeed with pupils who had their eyes as well as with pupils who had not. And in that way she supported herself, if not in elegance, at least in comfort. Now that Miss Holmes has been rendered independent, she will devote her money to the education of her fellows who are afflicted with blindness. A number of years ago Miss Holmes published a volume of verses that have the true ring of poetry in them .

SINCE VICTORIA WAS CROWNED.

There Have Been Great Social Reforms and Wonderful Inventions.

Great social reforms belong to Queen Victoria's reign, writes William George Jordan in Ladies' Home Journal, narrating the progress of the world since Queen Victoria ascended the throne 50 years ago. The degrading practice of flogging has been abolished in the armies and navies of America and England. Children are no longer permitted to work in the mines of Britain. Press gangs no longer force men into the service of the queen's navy. The Red Cross society, approved by 49 nations, has softened the horror of war. The transportation of criminals, with its many evils, has been suppressed. Ixecutions are no longer conducted in public. The treatment of criminals has become humane. Factory laws and building acts make life easier for the Inventive science has made marvelous progress in every department during Victoria's 60 years as queen. Cantilever bridges have surprised the world. Travel has been wonderfully quickened by street cars, cabs, trolleys, cable cars, eletated roads and other triumphs of invention. In 1827 there were no typewriters, no passenger elevators, no modern bicycles, no soda-water fountains, no horseless carriages, no chemical fire extinguishers, no ironclads, no perfecting presses. Fully chronicling the inventue progress of the last six decades would make it seem as if nothing of real consequence to man's comfort had been done before 1837.

DANGEROUS CHEMICALS.

The Time Has Arrived to Put Legal

Restrictions on Their Sale. Several more or less dangerous articles of chemical manufacture are becoming so largely employed for a variety of useful purposes now that some restrictions as to their sale, conveyance and storage are imperative, says the San Francisco Argonaut. Thousands of gallons of "liquid" carbonic acid gas in teel cylinders under high compression may now be seen every day being conveyed in carts from place to place, and similarly other gases are stored under pressure in "tubes," as, for instance, oxygen, hydrogen, nitrous oxide and so on, all of which may expose the public to danger. Solid Frields of metallic sodium, again (kept under naphtha, of course), are every day carried from port to port as part of a ship's cargo, and very serious accidents have occasionally arisen from the intermixture of various chemicals on Loard ship by the damaging effect of a rough passage upon the packages. Still another chemical sucstance of comparatively recent discovery is carbide of calcium, whic... on simply becoming moist gives off the exceedingly inflammable gas, acetylene, which, with air, forms an explosive mix-

Ages at Which Marriages May Be Contracted in Europe. In Austria a "man" and a "woman" are supposed to be capable of conducting a home of their own from the age of 14. In Germany the man must be at least 18 years of age. In France the man must be 18 and the woman 15; in Belgium the same. In Spain the intended husband must have passed his fourteenth year and the woman her twelfth. In Hungary, for Roman Catholics, the man must be 14 years old and the woman 12; for Protestants, the man must be 18 and the woman 15. In Greece the man must have seen at least 14 summers, and the woman 12. In Portugal a boy of 14 is considered marriageable and a woman of 12. In Russia and Saxony they are a little more sensible, and a youth must refrain from entering into matrimony till he can count 18 years, and the woman till she can count 12. In Switzerland the men from the age of 14 and the women from the age of 12 are allowed to marry. in Turkey any youth and maiden who can walk properly, and can understand the necessary religious service, are allowed to be united for life.

Kansas City June 21 .- An interesting decision bearing on the Kansas prohibitory law has been rendered by Judge Gates in the circuit court here in the case of the Val Blatz Brewing company against the firm of Bobrecker Bros. A VITAL QUESTION.

Asked by Hundreds of Middletown People-A Citzen Answers It.

Our citizens who have been entrapped into reading newspaper composition that furned out to be a cleverly worded introduction to some proprietary medicine advertisements always stop the perusal of it when they discover the fraud, some with impatience, some mentally vowing they won't be foolish again. Other readers who are honestly searching for a remedy advertised in their daily paper, drop on to one, and invariably the first question comes to a more important one, why don't they publish local testimony instead of forever asking us to believe statements of some one whom we are not sure even exists? Carefully read the following and see if it does not fill the bill:

Mrs. Mary Carey, of No 143 East avenue says:-My little daughter fell coming home from school and injured her back. Since then, now over two years, she has suffered a great deal with backache. If she walked any distance her back would give ont. If she caught cold she was sure to have a severe and protracted attack. When the last spell occurred I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at J. E. Mills' drug store and they strengthened her. Since she stopped them she has asked me to get her some more. She dreads a return of the suffering, but it shows no indication of seizing her again. So convinced was I of the efficiency of Doan's Kidney Pills and so pleased with the results in my daughter's case that I commenced taking them my seli for a slight pain in my loins which accompained a cold. They removed it in a day or two. After Doan's Kidney Pills cured my little girl's back I have no hesitancy in highly recommending them.

HOW TO ROAST BEEF. Temperature of the Oven-A Prime

Pot Roast. When beef is to be roasted it should be placed in a very hot oven at first, so that the surface will be quickly browned, thus making a coating by which the juices of the meat will all be retained. The temperature of the oven should then be lowered and the meat cooked slowly and be frequently basted, unless it is in a covered pan. The time allowed for roasting a large regulations made and provided by the prohibitory law, resold the liquor to Bopiece of beef is usually 12 minutes for every pound and 12 minutes for the

> To prepare a piece of beef for roasting do not wash it, but wipe it off with a damp cloth. Place it in the baking pan, rub some beef drippings over the top and dredge the top and sides with flour. Put in the pan a couple of spoonfuls of drippings. Water should not be added if you wish the reast to be a nice brown, and do not add the salt and pepper to the pan until after the surface of the meat has been well browned. Remember that after the first 20 minutes roast beef requires a moderate oven and baste the meat frequently with its own drippings from the pan. If there is danger of the gravy growing too brown or cooking away, a little beef stock may be added to the pan, and frequently a gill, of cooking wine is added to the pan in the last 20 minutes of cooking, giving the gravy a delicious flavor. When the roast is sufficiently cooked remove it to a heated platter and make the gravy. First turn off the top grease from the liquid in the pan, and if there is not sufficient liquid left add a little stock. Lightly dredge the pan with flour and stir over a hot fire. Season with a spoonful of some sauce and more salt and pepper, if needed. Strain into a heated gravy boat and serve.

For a pot roast, get a short, thick piece of the cross rib of the beef and lard it with little strips of clear, fat pork. Put the pot in which the meat is to be cooked over the fire, and when it becomes hot put in the beef and brown it, turning the meat until every side is browned. Add half a dozen little onions, two tablespoonfuls of tomatoes, a bay leaf, a little chopped parsley, three cloves, a dozen whole black peppers, two garlie buds and a cup of starch. Place the pot where the meat will just steam and the liquid simmer for three hours, keeping the pot closely covered. One hour before serving add two carrots, sliced thin, and another cup of stock, if it is needed. Remove the meat when done to a heated platter and season the sauce with salt and pepper and a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce and rub it through a coarse sieve. Pour the sauce around the meat.-N. GRANT AT WEST POINT. Free from All Profanity and Pure in His Conversation.

Grant was a most agreeable and affectionate roommate. It warms my heart when I think of the year we passed together so pleasantly. At first we had another inmate in our room; but he was transferred to another company and we were alone together. We never had the slightest disagreement. Grant was not what we called "military." He was careless in dress, he did not pay much attention to the minutiae of drill. For two years we were both high privates in the company. Then we were made cadet sergeants. We had many a good laugh about our military cadet rank. He was foot of the list, and I next above him. The next year, when the appointment of cadet officers was made out, he returned to the rank of private and I took the foot of the list. Grant had a good head for mathematics and other studies. He was not a hard student; he studied enough to take the head of the second section, and I do not doubt if he had been more ambitious he could have been in the first section. Three parts of the class were below him as it was. He got a good deal of demerits for trifling carelessness in military matters, which lowered his general standing in the class. He joined the Dialectic society, a literary association, purely voluntary, to improve himself in general education, and attended its meetings regularly. Although always cheerful and pleasant, he seemed a good part of the time occupied in serious thoughts on the great problems of human life. He was free from all profanity, and his conversation was purce. He did not drink liquor or use tobacco. One of his characteristic traits was a great straightforwardness and a scrupulous regard for truth. He would not deviate from it even in jest. -Rev. George Deshon, in N. Y. Inde-

Gold Coins Worth $220 Each, It is said that the largest gold coin now in circulation is the gold ingot or "lool" of Anam, a French colony in eastern Asia. It is a flat, round gold piece, and on it is written in India ink its value, which is about $220. The next sized coin to this valuable but extremely awkword one is the "obang" of Japan, which is worth about $55, and next comes the "benda" of Ashantee, which represents a value of about $49. The California $50 gold piece is worth about the same as the "benda." The heaviest silver co'n in the world also belongs to Anam, where the silver ingot is worth about $15; then comes the Chinese "tael," and then the Austrian double thaler .- Chicago Times-Herald.

FOR THE RELIEF OF FARMERS John R. Dos Passos, an eminent New York lawyer, is endeavoring to arouse public interest in a scheme for the formation of a land and mortgage company modeled after the Credit Foncier of France, and proposes to make the income-paying farms and other productive real estate of the country a basis of credit by issuing against them, at a low rate of interest, bonds which can be negotiated with the same ease as government bonds in any of the financial centres of the country. Mr. Dos Passos proposes to make the capital stock of the company $100,000,000, and to authorize it to begin business when $10,000,000 has been subscribed and paid in. He also proposes to have the company under strict government examination and control of the same character as that ex-

Loans are to be made for long periods, at a rate of interest of about 4.65 per cent. per annum, and in no case will a loan be made for more than half the appraised value of the real estate offered as security. The same prudence will be exercised in making the company's investments that is exercised by life insurance companies in making their loans. The charges for searching titles and making loans will be reduced to the lowest possible figure and one of the company's aims will be to do away with the deplorable fact that the great agricultural interests of the country are practically debarred from the possibility of obtaining financial accommodation without incurring preliminary expenses that, added to the interest charge, make the rate extortionate and ruinous.

ercised by the Comptroller of the Currency and his examiners over the national

Against the loans made by the company it is proposed to issue its bonds. which it is believed can be floated at par with interest at 3.65 per cent. The company's bond i-sues are never to exceed the amount of its loans, so that eacl: dollar of the bonds will be secured by real estate of the actual cash value of $2 and the extra guarantee of the company's capital of $100.000,000. In proof of the of the Credit Foncier of France is cited. httle if any protest. This company's bonds, bearing three per cent. interest, sell at 105, while the bonds of the French government bring only about 101%

The company will make two kinds of loans, short term and long term. The former, ranging from one to fitteen years, will be payable in one sum at the expiration of the period. The latter, made tor from fifteen to seventy-five years, may be paid at any time at the pleasure of the borrower, but provision is made for their extinguishment by installments, a small annual payment being exacted in addition to interest, which goes into a sinking fund.

It is estimated that stockholders in the company will receive handsome returns on their investments, and among the general advantages which it is believed will result from the formation of such a company and the carrying out or the plan proposed are: The enhancement of the value or farm lands by making borrowing on them practicable, enlargement or the circulating medium of the country by the issue or bonds or easily negotiable denominations; giving of communities without banking tacilities the same use of money as is enjoyed by the most rayored localities, equalizing the value for borrowing purposes of property in all parts of the country; and last, but by no means least, the removal of the sectional spirit and jealousy due to unequal financual conditions which from true to time crops out and threatens harm to the acpublic.

An Illinois narmer killed by I glitting while at work in a field. Saturday, was iound to have $25,000 in his pockets. In these days of agricultural depression, it is small wonder that lightning singled out a farmer able to carry about $25,-000 m loose change. Scotland Yard Authorities Courding Against Possible Bomb Throwing on Jubilee Day-Incendiary Leaflets. BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON, June 21-Owing to the recent explosion of bombs in Paris and the arrival in England of many foreigners known to be anarchists, the Scotland yard authorities have been very active. The route of the procession, to-morrow, has been closely examined, especially bridges and the stands in their vicinity Socialist and anarchist leaflets in threatening terms have been issued. One of them described the Queen's reign as "Sixty years of cowardly wars for gold on ignorant and defenseless savages" and as resulting in "an increase of wealth Great Britain, but not for the mass of the working people whose condition is worse than sixty years ago.

The leaflet is quoted also as saying the appalling mass of lunatics sent to asylums yearly have been driven mad by stress of difficulties of life during Victoria's glorious teign."

CELEBRATED HIS FIRST MASS.

Father John Durham at St. Joseph's Church-A Reception in His Honor-Presented With a Watch.

St. Joseph's Church was filled, Sunday, at the 11 o'clock service, on the occasion of the first celebration of solemn high mass by Rev. John Durham, son of our respected townsman, John Darham. Very Rev. Bede Durham is pastor of a charge at Creston, Iowa, and is better known as "Will" Durham. The services at St. Joseph's were very imposing, thanks to the courtesy of Rev. Father McClancy, and the sermon, a very touching one, was preached by Rev. Bede Durham from the very appropriate text. 'My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord.'

Father John Durham will be attached to the cathedral at Fort Wayne, Ind., after a short vacation here. He is a finished orator and a priest of great prom-

THREE ESCAPES THAT INDUCED A MAN TO GIVE UP POKER.

``@eeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeee

DON'T care to play," said the quiet little man in the smoking compartment on the first evening of the trip eastward from San Francisco. There were only four men on the ear who had thus far shown signs of being companionable, and he was one of the four. They had dined and were enjoying their cigarstogether. The talk was desultory and amounted to little. One proposed a game of cards, and two of the others were ready, but the little man declined. The pause that followed was a little awkward. They did not even know one another by name, and the wording of the refusal seemed curt. The little man seemed to realize this, for after a moment of silence he continued:

er pleasure a year ago than to join you in a game of poker. In fact, nothing would give me greater pleasure now, but I am done with cards, and I believe anyone of you would refuse, as I do, if cards had cost you what they have me.'

The others spoke a few polite nothings, to the general effect that it was a free country and nobody was obliged to play anything he didn't want to play, and one—the youngest in the partysaid:

"Unlucky, I suppose."

"H'm! Well, I don't exactly know as you'd call it that," said the little man. reflectively. "I 'most always win when I play, or used to, that is; but I've had some of the cussedest, narrowest squeaks in the game that could easily be imagined, and I made up my mind some time since that I'd had enough of 'em And as I can't play cards without getting back into poker, I just naturally quit cards."

"Story about it?" asked the young

"Y-yes. Sort of. But I'm no story teller." "Man won't play eards. Ought to do something." This was the young man's appeal to the other two. They nodded. "Well, I don't know as I mind spinning the yarn," said the little man after a little hesitation, "seeing that you don't any of you know me, and you won't any of you be likely to see me again after we separate at the end of the trip. It you knew me I wouldn't care to tell it just as it was, and it wouldn't be worth telling any other way. The first narrow escape I had was from state prison, and a good deal worse. At least I count it was worse, for I would have taken with me to prison the consciousness that I deserved to go, and according to my notion the knowledge that you deserve punishment is a deal worse than the punishment itself.

"The game fascinated me, as it fasluntes everybody, I think, who plays it much. I played more and more, and as I generally held my own, and won more often than I lost, I got to playing harder and harder till I was not contented with anything but a big gamethe higger the better. I have traveled three times all the way between Chi- lone, Radishas. eaco and Washington to get into a game with genuine high rollers. Of course I couldn't do that sort of thing without a good supply of ready money and a considerable amount of spare time, I had both, for I had a fair cash capital and a business of my own that paid me well. And my business was in such a condition that I could leave it to my employes for a week at a time.

"One night there was a particularly stiff game at the club I frequented most in New York, where I then lived. The limit was off, and a raise of a thousand was made several times during the evening. I had expected hot work, and had put $5,000 in my pocket that afternoon. There was one man in the game that I particularly wanted to heat, partly because he was a noted player and I had never met him before. I watched him carefully, and twice in the course of MASONIC BUILDING, NORTH STREET AGENT FOR OTTO HUBBER'S EXTRACT OF MALT, THE REST IN THE WORLD. three or four hours' play I was satisfied that he took in a fairly large pot on a bluff. I had nothing in my own hand either time, and didn't care to pay to see his cards, but I felt sure that if he had bluffed twice successfully, as I was positive he had, he would do it again.

"Presently he tried it. Of course I could only suspect him unless I called, but I decided to risk it, though I had only a pair of sevens when I came in after the jackpot was open, and I hadn't bettered in the draw. It had been opened for $500, and my antagonist had raised it a thousand before the draw. That's what made me come in on so small a hand, for I concluded he was trying to steal the pot, which was big enough to justify the attempt, for there was over a thousand in it before he "I stood the raise and so did the opener, who stood pat. My man drew two eards and I drew three. As I said, I caught nothing. The opener bet a thousand and my man went back at him with another thousand. I simply made good, but the opener lost his nerve and laid down a small straight without calling. My man had evidently reckoned on my dropping out also. out my bet became a call when the opener quit, and he showed down two We had some little chaff over it, and the game went on. I didn't know till next day how near ruin I had been just then. When I went to my office in the morning I found that my cashier had gone to Canada, and that instead of having several thousand dollars in bank, as I had supposed I had, my account was overdrawn. That does not sound like ruin, I confess, but I was the trustee of certain funds amounting to about $5,000, and I was called on for a settlement that very day. If it hadn't been for my winnings the night before I wouldn't have settled, and if it hadn't been for winning that pot on a pair of sevens. I would have had to quit the game, for I was a loser before that hand. The consequences would have been frightful.

"Another narrow escape I had was from being a married man. I was engaged to be married to a lady who broke the engagement because she had learned that I had played poker. Perhaps I ought not speak of this as an escape, but I know that she made the man she afterward married most miserably unhappy. What would have happened if I had marired her I can't say, and I don't enjoy thinking about "The most wonderful piece of luck that ever happened to me, though, was in a poker game in San Francisco, when the stakes were not particularly heavy. In fact, we were playing five-dollar limit, and nobody won or lost more than a couple of hundred in the game. The men in it were all members of my club and were supposed to be gentlemen, though one of them, as it proved, was not. We had played till after midnight, and there was nobody but the five players in the room when we caught this fellow cheating.

"The accusation made a course, and the fellow drew a revolver and attempted to shoot the fellow who had accused him. Another man struck at the pistol as he fired, and the bullet grazed my temple. That was as close a call as anybody could want; but the luck of it lay in the fact that I was rising from my chair as the shot was fired, and my foot slipped as I was in the act of rising. This caused me to lose my balance and in falling back, my head just moved out of range, so that I had only a grazed skin on my forehead instead of a bullet in the brain, as I would have had if I had not slipped.

"In order to save a scandal we allowed the fellow to resign from the club, and the story was never made public. I thought the thing over pretty seriously, though, and after a time I concluded that poker was rather too exciting for me. I think I got superstitious about it; but anyhow. I have never played cards since."-N. Y. Sun.

Why He Was Excused.

Dennis McCarty, a true son of Erin. vas suing his neighbor, William Smith, for damages occasioned by the defendant's carelessness in allowing his donkey to escape from his stable and trespass upon plaintiff's premises, thus doing much mischief in his garden. Me-Carty stepped into the witness box to give evidence in support of his case, and when he had finished the lawyer who appeared for the defendant proceeded to cross-examine him.

"Now you mean to say that all this injury to the property of which you speak was caused solely by Smith's donkey?" "Sartialy, sor."

"Oh, indeed; and where did you first see this animal which you declare has been the source of so much mischief?" "I saw him tied up in defendant's thable."

PRESIDENT SETH LOW

May Be the Republican Choice for Mayor of Greater New York.

Seth Low, who is so warmly supported by many eminent citizens for mayor of the Greater New York, is the president of Columbia university, and one of the most remarkable educators in America. He was made president of the big college when he was but 40. He is now approaching 47. Prof. Low was graduated from the great institution over which he now presides before he reached his majority. His father had been a merchant, and when Seth left college he undertook to master the details of the business. He did it so well that in four years he was made manager of it. Early he took an interest in politics, and at 30 he was the foremost re publican in Brooklyn. He took a prominent part in the campaign in which Garfield was elected president, and a year later he was elected mayor of Brooklyn, in spite of the efforts of the political bosses to defeat him. Until his election to the headship of the great school he was never regarded as a scholar, but during the seven years he has officiated as the director of Columbia he has shown himself to be not only a man of the widest culture, but a man of affairs. He has handled the interests of the university with such skill as to make it the marvel of the east. Prof. Low knows civic government thoroughly, and some of the most prominent men in Greater New York demand his nomination from the republican party. He might have been the republican nominee for the New York mayoralty in 1888, but he did not agree with the party platform, and declined the

LOGAN MONUMENT.

Splendid Memorial to the Great Soldier Erected at Chicago.

The Logan monument, which is to be unveiled at Chicago with elaborate ceremonies July 22, will be a fitting mamorial to the soldier statesman. The equestrian bronze statue will rest upon a granite pedestal surmounting a huge oval mound, within which will be constructed crypts for the reception of the bodies of the dead soldier and his widow when she too shall have passed away.

This mound will be 200 feet in length and 150 feet wide, sloping gradually upward 18 feet from the ground, with a flat surface at its top 24x33 feet. Around the edge will be a stone coping bordering a five-foot walk which will encircle the pedestal. The latter will be four feet high and the statue will above, making the total height of the monument above the ground 44 feet.

The figure of Logan will be nine feet high. The design shows the general as he appeared when he dashed to the front with a regimental standard grasped in his left hand, to assume command of the Army of the Tennessee upon the death of Gen. McPherson before Atlanta. The crypt will be sealed. and the only mode of access will be through a trap sunk in the graveled walk on the top of the artificial mound surrounding the base of the statue.

On the sides and ends of the pedesta will be inscribed the battles in which Gen. Logan fought. The dates of his Lirth and death will be as follows:

Mej Gen, John A Loran, Born in Linois, Peb 9, 1826, and Died in Washington, D. C., Dec. 26, 1886.

The morument will be placed in the Lake Front park at the foot of Claridge court.

SERMONS TO GRADUATES.

TWO BACCALAUREATE SERMONS PREACHED BY RECTOR EVANS.

In the Morning to the Graduating Class of the Righ School and in the Evening to That of the Misses Porter's School -" The Love Which the Christian Religion Teaches" the Preacher's Morning Theme-A Very Able and Impressive Discourse.

Grace Church was crowded, yesterday morning, when the graduating class of the High School were present with the members of the Board of Education and the staff of teachers for the annual baccalcureate service. The sermon was preacted by Rev. David Evans from the text 'Little children love one another, for love is of God." The following is a brief synopsis:

St. John was essentially the apostle of love. His whole being was charged with it. He had, with his head laid against the breast of Jesus at the solemn Last Supper, heard the very heart throbs of the Son of Man, and each throb seemed to say "Love, love, love." This divine music of the heart of Jesus was learnt by his own heart, which from that day forward throbbed to the same sweet tune, and all the burden of his song was also "Love, love, love."

No better word than this could any preacher speak at such a time to those who were met within God's house to dedicate, with goodly custom, the first fair fruitage of their faculties to Almighty God, for christian love is the complement of all secular education, without which all the learning and accomplishments of the schools will be as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.

The schools and colleges make no pretense of teaching love, and if the Church - of Christ were not in the world to supplement their defective education with her divine message, the very best thing of all our youth could never hope to learn, and the noblest example of all they could never hope to exhibit, in lives absolutely devoted to the pure unselfish service of one's fellow men.

Nevertheless, there are some who exclaim that the church has outlived her usefulness, and that the dear Lord Jesus has had his day. Religion was all very well, they say, in the dark ages, when men were like little children, scared by bogies and lured by candy, but now the lamp of knowledge sheds her bright rays everywhere, and a civilized and educated world no longer needs such unhealthy in-

But this plausible theory is contradicted by the fact that the communities of the ancient world were very highly educated, and yet they know absolutely nothing of love

There have never been any finer poets or finer philosophers than those of Greece and Rome. Not England, or France, or Germany or America can boast of more brilliant intellects than those rare men of genius who flourished in old Athens hundreds of years before Christ was

And the education of that day was not confined to the select lew by any means, for when the plays of Sophocles or Aristophanes were acted, plays full of a strong moral purpose and abounding in passages of extraordinary power, the benches were crowded by the common people, who followed every word with keenest interest and made demonstrative approval of every telling point.

The common people of Athens were at least as well educated as the common people of Middletown in this regard, for those who direct the theatre of this city complain that it does not pay to bring the higher drama here and that our citizens have no intelligence above operabouffe, minstrel shows and maudlin i melodrama.

And yet all their education taught the for they had no public hospit if, nor was sent home or passed by unseen. there any such institution in the ancient century tounded one as an act of Christian penancea, and "the charity planted by that woman's hand has overspread. In Vid of the Convalescent Home.

Besides, what are the names that rise to our in s when we think of philauthrop- found and the entertainment, next Friicenterprise moneown day." They are almost without exception the names of devoid disciples of Jesus Christ-names like William Wilherroree Plorence Night- sembly Rooms should be filled at both angale, Sister Derry Lather Damien, entertainments, Ice cream, strawberries George Muber, Dr. barnardo, Peter and cake will be served by the ladies of Cooper George Cands, George Peabody, I the association. Lord Shartsbury Let the intidel parals reference as the and a will then. Returned to Her home at Franklin, he time county for him to vocaerate Propose Borne Adose Chast has had

It is exist, if geto, a that the men or makes of a trace when he doclar within the main love is the compleraent or other education, and he can offer no better or more patriotic advice to a class or young American men and women than they should tollow Jesus Thrist, for the love or Him containeth all things that any man can desire-noth riches and honor and power and wisdom.

All things are Christ's and Christ is God. In the evening Miss Porter's school attended for their baccalaurente service, and the church was again crowded. The sermon was from the text "When I became a man I put away childish things," and dwelt on some of the characteristics of childhood, which the graduates of rasuhood and wemanhood must learn to mit away.

At both services the prayers for Queen Victoria sent out by the Bishop in charge of the Diocese were read. Mrs. Harvey L. Wickham sang offertory solos at both services with rare sweetness and effect. Her singing of "Oh tor the Wings of a Dove" in the morning was particularly · frective and made a very marked impression on all who heard it.

TWO LOCAL DIVORCE CASES.

Allmony and Counsel Fees for Mrs. Tilford-Mrs. Wilkison Proves Her Husband's Infidelity.

Mrs. Edith Tilford, of this city, an allowance of $5 a week and counsel fee of $50 in her suit for divorce from Daniel Tilford, formerly of the North Street Hotel.

Judge Hirschberg heard, Saturday, the evidence in the divorce suit of Edith Wil kison against S. Lewis Wilkison, both of this city. John F. Bradner appeared for plaintiff, and by the testimony of D. Frank Decker, ex-officer M. H. Carey, W. F. Brown and other witnesses, proved defendant's criminal intimacy with a woman known as Flora Stevenson. There was no defense, and Judge Hirschberg intimated that he would grant the divorce. Mr. Bradner stated that his client desired no alimony. The Judge added that he presumed the counsel would want no costs of court. "I don't think that you understand the workings of my mind," said Mr. Bradner.

GOOD TEMPLARS AT CHURCH.

Rev. Frank Arthur Heath Gave a Temperance Address.

About one hundred Good Templars attended the temperance sermon delivered by Rev. Frank A. Heath at the First Baptist Church, Sunday night. The church was filled, and the audience gave marked attention to the telling truths to which the preacher gave utterance.

The choir rendered an anthem with splendid effect, and the pastor's blind brother gave two special selections, "The Barkeeper" and "The Volunteer Organist," with an expression which touched sympathetic chords in the hearts of those

Is it not about time that the insurance department of this State awoke to the fact that there is as much danger in permitting orders to do business on the "less than cost plan" as in the impairment of the legal reserve?

I know that almost every other man we meet is a "joiner" and that to say a word against his lodge is a daugerous proceeding, but murmurs loud and deep are heard everywhere against the officers of the supreme bodies who have been promising no increase for years.

Yet with all the increases of rates, with the absolute knowledge that no concern cau do business at cost, or as some are advertising at less than cost, the same orders are sending hundreds of men in the field to reorganize and get in the "young blood." That is what they want, the young blood to fill the veins of the old, and then as years go on once more the curtain will fall, while the classification occurs and allow the old members, as one fraternal journal puts it. "to face the music and hobble along with the possession.
